

Community Dialogue Action Plan with Updates Updated on January 24, 2022

The city received extensive input and ideas from over 200 residents during the course of the Community Dialogue meetings and outreach in 2020. Based on that input and discussions by council committees and staff, the full Lakewood City Council approved a Community Dialogue Action Plan on January 26, 2021.

The highlighted areas reflect the progress that has transpired since the approval of the Action Plan:

1. Create a Council Committee on Race, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion. This Committee will provide an ongoing mechanism for the council to review, discuss and recommend actions related to racial equity and the goals of the Community Dialogue. Creating a permanent Council Committee devoted to this subject signifies the Lakewood City Council's serious and ongoing desire to carry out work on this important issue.

UPDATE: The council created this committee on January 26, 2021 and the committee held several meetings in 2021, providing guidance to staff on the Action Plan.

2. Create a regular public Roundtable on Race, Equity, Diversity and Inclusion. The REDI Roundtable meetings will allow any member of the public to attend, discuss and recommend actions related to racial equity and the goals of the Community Dialogue. This will allow all interested residents to have an ongoing mechanism for discussion and input on these important matters. It's envisioned that two City Council Members will attend each Roundtable and do so on a rotating basis, with one member usually being a member of the REDI Council Committee.

UPDATE: Initially, two Town Hall meetings on Zoom were held in September 2020. Then, the first REDI Roundtable meeting took place on Zoom on April 24, 2021 where residents offered feedback on the Action Plan and discussed other subjects. A second Roundtable (in person, outdoors) was held on October 10, 2021. Future meetings will take place regularly to keep the community updated and to continually seek input from Lakewood residents.

3. Create a Lakewood Multicultural Festival and Food Festival. This was suggested by several members of the public during the Community Dialogue. The City Council thought it was a great idea, and directed staff to begin planning for an annual event in Lakewood as soon as possible in accordance with public health safeguards.

UPDATE: With the goal of highlighting the wide range of cultures that Lakewood is proud to have as part of its community today, the City of Lakewood organized and held the Fest-Of-All music and food festival on Oct. 9, 2021 outside Lakewood Center mall. Over 10,000 Lakewood residents and guests attended. The city received extensive positive feedback from residents about the event.

4. Provide training on racial sensitivity and inclusion to City officials and staff. The City has provided anti-discrimination training to its staff for many years, and the City provided an additional round of training to all staff in the summer of 2020 following the George Floyd killing. However, following up on the recommendations from the Community Dialogue, the City Council directed staff to research additional training that could be provided. The City has joined the Government Alliance on Race and Equity (GARE) which will provide Lakewood with access to best practices and specialized training in this area.

UPDATE: The City has joined the Government Alliance on Race and Equity (GARE), which will provide Lakewood with access to best practices and specialized training in this area. The City also held a four-hour long racial diversity and sensitivity awareness workshop for all City staff, council members and officials in August 2021. It was very well received by attendees, and the training was led by Eric Bailey, who facilitated Lakewood's Town Hall Community Dialogues in 2020. The city intends to continue with regular similar trainings in the future and have these important REDI-related conversations and events with our staff.

5. Enhance the City's work with teens on racial equity. The City operates two Teen Centers in Lakewood and manages the Lakewood Teen Action Committee, comprised of approximately 30 teens, who meet regularly to discuss current topics and carry out volunteer projects. The LTAC has not met since COVID began, but City staff propose to incorporate racial equity discussions in the LTAC in the future and to publicize the LTAC and the Teen Centers more to our residents to increase participation and knowledge of the programs.

UPDATE: The city's Teen Center plans to expand the focus of the Lakewood Teen Action Committee (LTAC) to racial equity and diversity discussions and topics. The LTAC operated the Children's Cultural Booth at the Fest-Of-All event, and the City is considering ways that the Youth in Government program can have a REDI-related topic of research for the coming year. An initial discussion with some LTAC members yielded ideas on where they could volunteer that address diversity and inclusion and plans for upcoming meetings will cover a broader range of REDI-related topics.

6. Organize more community talks with the Sheriff's Department. Several members of the public recommended this during the Town Halls. Over the past three years, the city has greatly increased the number of such talks and gatherings, including Coffees with a Deputy, a new Ice Cream with a Deputy, and several community meetings with deputies and city public safety staff during 2019. Obviously, many of these gatherings could not take place in 2020 once COVID hit. But this year, the city has started organizing virtual meetings on Zoom and has stepped up its publicity of those meetings so that more residents are aware of them. This will be a good way to encourage more people to participate and build on Lakewood traditionally strong community law enforcement relations.

UPDATE: In 2021 the city held numerous in-person or Zoom meetings for the public to meet Sheriff's personnel and city public safety staff and discuss any issues of concern...as well as hear safety tips on topics like reducing your risk of auto thefts and home burglaries. The in-person meetings allowed residents to have a more personalized interaction with Sheriff's personnel and city public safety staff. Of the seven "Coffee/Ice Cream/Cocoa with a Deputy" events, two were held virtually, allowing residents to participate easily from the comfort of their homes. There were also three “Connect with Public Safety” virtual events, which were educational presentations about the Public Safety Department, Sheriff’s contract services, basic crime prevention tools and programs and services, followed by a Q&A. The city also organized a National Night Out gathering at Palms Park in August 2021 attended by public safety personnel and a few hundred residents over the course of the event. Find out about the next meeting at www.Lakewoodcity.org/ConnectWithPublicSafety.

7. Create neighborhood-level or park-level events for residents to meet their neighbors. Another recommendation from residents in the Community Dialogue was the idea of creating some smaller sized events at the neighborhood level where residents could meet each other.

UPDATE: The City Council thought this was a great idea, and staff has been looking into how to do these with respect to public health precautions. A topic of the August 2021 REDI Committee meeting was a proposal for morning walking clubs and evening coffee/ice cream socials at each Lakewood park, where residents could meet and talk with each other. Proposed events starting in Spring 2022 include family game nights at several parks and community walks, each with light refreshments and an opportunity to get to know neighbors.

8. Publicize the public complaint process for the Sheriff’s Department and the business discrimination process of the state and federal governments. Several residents raised concerns in this area, including allegations of racially discriminatory behavior by local businesses. The City Council directed to staff to publicize the complaint process that exists for the Sheriff’s Department and the state and federal business discrimination agencies so that Lakewood residents are fully aware of how to protect their rights in these matters. The city will also publicize its longstanding fair housing consultant who assists residents who believe they may be victims of housing discrimination.

UPDATE: There was a news story on this in the city’s eMagazine the week of April 19, 2020...and an article in the Lakewood Community News on May 1st. The city plans to do annual reminder articles on this as well.

9. Unite members of different community groups in volunteer service projects. In follow up to another recommendation of the Community Dialogue, the City looked at ways to intermix members of different community groups at future Volunteer Day and other volunteer service projects. The hope was to promote interaction with lots of other community groups, with the goal of increasing awareness, friendship and collegiality among as many groups and people as possible in the city.

UPDATE: City staff implemented this idea for the Day of Service on September 11th, and plan to implement it again for Volunteer Day in the spring of 2022.

10. Educate residents on the city motto of “Times Changes, Values Don’t.” The motto was mentioned by a few residents in the Community Dialogue, and it became clear that some people may not realize that the city’s motto is not from the city’s founding in 1954 but instead was created in 2004 and was meant to convey timeless community values such as recreation for all, beautiful neighborhood parks, well-maintained streets and infrastructure, volunteerism, and public safety as well as diversity and tolerance.

The motto was not meant in any way to reflect the housing and other discrimination that regrettably existed throughout the nation in the 1950s, including in Lakewood. Public education on the city motto will be an opportunity to educate residents on the history of discrimination in our nation...including Lakewood in the early 1950s...and also on the positive progress towards diversity that has been made in the years since, especially in Lakewood, which has been identified as one of California's "most diversifying cities." This public education effort will be another opportunity to articulate for our residents the goals of Lakewood's Community Dialogue process.

UPDATE: Staff and the REDI Committee directed staff to publish a news article on this topic, which will be posted in early 2022.

Actions already taken by the City that should be continued.

UPDATE: In early 2021, the approved a resolution committing the city to annually commemorate and provide public education on nine calendar months and days related to "race, equity, diversity and inclusion."

Those calendar commemorations include:

1. Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr. holiday...which, the city has long recognized, but is now committing to do so with significant public education (January).
2. Black History Month (February)
3. Women's History Month (March)
4. Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month (May)
5. Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Queer Pride Month (June)
6. Juneteenth Day (June 19)
7. National Hispanic Heritage Month (Sept 15-Oct 15)
8. National Disability Awareness Month (Oct).
9. Native American Heritage Month (Nov)
